

New Adventures

Eye has not seen, nor ear heard, nor have entered into the heart of man the things which God has prepared for those who love Him.—I Corinthians 2:9

I just got a new year's advertisement from Southwest Airlines for "New Adventures in 2015". Many of us anticipate new explorations this year. Maybe we will venture off the well-traveled path or maybe we want to visit a museum, National Park, a major city or even a foreign country. There is something exciting about seeing sites we have never seen, tasting foods we have only heard about, hearing a musical performance from a great artist. None of this can compare to what awaits us in eternity.

What will heaven be like? It will be greater than anything we have ever seen or heard—greater than anything we can imagine. It will be more beautiful than the rarest gems. I believe that our limited vocabulary cannot begin to describe the things we will see. God is the creator and we can expect His creation to be amazing. His creation will magnify the glory of God. I cannot conceive of what He has prepared for us in heaven.

I look forward to new sites, tastes, sounds, and adventures in 2015. This is a new year God has given us. Our prayer should be that we will use each day to bring glory to Him. Even more than the anticipation of a blessed year, 2015, I look forward to what God has prepared for eternity in heaven.
